Congratulations to Avery Edenfield who was just accepted to host a workshop titled “The importance of writing practice in cooperatives” at the Association for Cooperative Educators Institute in July 2017. The Institute brings together cooperative educators and developers from all over the world to share knowledge and build collaborative networks that cross sectors and national boundaries.