On May 30th, Geneva Harline will begin working with the School of Graduate Studies in the position of a Coordinator of Programs III. In this position, she will be assisting graduate students with questions as well as performing various tasks as assigned by the Associate Dean of Graduate Studies.

Geneva is excited about the opportunity to be able to encourage graduate students through this position. She credits USU's English department with providing her the confidence, skills and knowledge to succeed in her new career. These were not only gained through her coursework, but also the numerous opportunities to interact professionally with members of the department at various functions and workshops.

Congratulations Geneva!
